THREE CENTS

CAPTAIN RANDLE CASE CARRIED TO WAR DEPARTMENT

Brother Of Army Officer's
Wife Is On His Way
To Washington.

CAPTAIN TO FIGHT
CHARGE TO FINISH

Sues His Superior Officer For Defamation Of Character.

Indianapolis, March 29.—Louis K. Karns, brother of Mrs. Agnes Karns Randle, who with her husband, Capt. Edwin H. Randle, is suing Col. A. L. Conger of Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for $100,000, alleged defamation of character, is on his way to Washington today to lay the entire matter before the war department.

Karns, who lives in Indianapolis, received a special delivery letter from Capt. Randle yesterday, in which details of the affair were revealed to the family for the first time.

Capt. Randle explained in the letter that all his telegrams had been censored by Col. Conger and requested Karns to ask the war department authorities to have an examination made of Col. Conger to determine his mental condition.

The matter will be taken directly to Secretary of War Weeks, Karns said. He said he would insist upon a searching investigation of the whole affair.

Mrs. Randle sued Col. Conger following a number of controversies between the colonel and her husband.

According to the statement of Capt. Randle which Karns is taking to Washington, the whole affair originated at two parties given at Capt. Randle's quarters—one New Year's eve and the other Feb. 10, 1922.

Objects To Parties
Capt. Randle's quarters, the statement says, are one half of a war-time ship building, the only other partition between his apartment and that of his neighbor being two thicknesses of beaverboard.

"The guests on both of these occasions," said Capt. Randle's letter to Karns, "were officers of my regiment with their wives."

Capt. Randle said that an officer and his wife who occupy the other end of the same building are not friends of his.

Summing up the controversy, Capt. Randle said:

"We have lived here almost three years and Mrs. Randle's character and mine are known by all to be the highest. If the public and the president know, as I hope they shall, the almost unlimited power exercised here by a few officers in the inner circle, they would arise and demand that such men be eliminated from the army."

"Mrs. Randle has written to President Harding and the secretary of war. I am going to fight this thing, cost what it may. There is no reason on earth why I should separate from my wife. It is an impossible situation arising from a combination of a few officers wielding more power than was ever intended."

COLDEST MARCH GRIPS NEW YORK

Only Nine Above Zero But Warmer Weather Is Due Tonight.

Washington, March 29.—Warmer weather by nightfall and continuing through tomorrow was promised by the weather bureau today for the country east of the Mississippi river.

New York, March 29.—New York today was in the icy clutch of the coldest March weather on record and a 60-mile gale made it seem colder.

The thermometer fell to the low level at 6 o'clock this morning when it reached nine above zero, a drop of 27 degrees from 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The previous low record for March was 19 degrees, established March 28, 1873.

Northern New York reported snow and the cold wave, extended into New England and west into Indiana and Ohio. With the passing of the wind this afternoon a rising temperature was forecast.

Clothing To Russia Sent By Lutherans

Emanuel Lutheran church of this city is doing its "bit" to relieve famine sufferers in Russia.

Five hundred pounds of wearing apparel have been gathered by this congregation and sent to the National Lutheran Council in New York city, from where it will be forwarded to the famine sufferers in the Volga district in Russia.

Votaw's Hen Leads Kirby Egg Producer

Curtis Votaw of Winona has a Rhode Island Red hen which can set the pace for D. D. Kirby's pullet. Last Tuesday this Red laid an egg that weighs five ounces measures eight and a quarter inches around, the long way and seven and a quarter inches in circumference.

Daugherty's Son In Mystery

Major Draper M. Daugherty

Major Draper M. Daugherty, only son of Attorney General of the United States Harry M. Daugherty, has been revealed as a close personal friend of Dorothy Keenan King, murdered New York butterfly, upon whom J. K. Mitchell, son-in-law of E. T. Stotesbury, lavished gems and money.

Major Daugherty, in a straightforward statement, admitted his acquaintance with the girl adding he believed blackmailers intended trying to extort money from him.

The theory of the police now is that the girl was murdered by blackmailers because she refused to aid in their plots against the fortunes of wealthy men.

Major Daugherty, a former army officer, is an engineer by profession.

STATE PRODUCES FIVE WITNESSES IN JOHNSON CASE

Three Testify They Saw Johnson On Night Of Hyatt's Murder.

Lisbon, March 29.—Five witnesses were put on the stand by the state this morning in the case of Edward Johnson, colored, charged with first degree murder in the death of William T. Hyatt, at Borings crossing, Wellsville, the night of Feb. 24.

Charles E. Weis, a freight conductor, Harold Cosgrove and Fred Cornell testified that Johnson was the colored man they saw that night. Weis testified Johnson was the man he saw in the railroad yards while Cosgrove and Cornell testified Johnson was the man who followed them up McClain's run road as they were going to their home in the country that night.

George Seeley, a railroad fireman, testified that Johnson was the man arrested in Alliance the Sunday morning after Hyatt was killed. Dr. A. C. Frazer and Dr. J. S. McCullough, Wellsville, who attended Hyatt the night he was shot, described the wounds in his body. Dr. Frazer was the last witness when court adjourned at noon.

Recreational Club Will Close Season

The Salem Recreational club will close its season of social meetings with the April fool party Tuesday evening at the High school gym. Plans for this event were made at a meeting of the executive committee Wednesday evening at the Community House, Depot st.

Announcement is made that a program of new games will provide entertainment and reports of the officers will be given, covering the period since the club's organization. This is a community club and any one interested is invited to attend.

Pictures To Feature Good Friday Service

Pictures of the life of Christ will be shown in connection with the evening prayer service observing Good Friday, at the Church of Our Saviour at 7:45 p. m. Friday. It was announced by Rev. F. S. Eastman Thursday.

Rev. Mr. Eastman has announced that he has secured some new pictures, reproductions of those in famous European art galleries, to be shown at the Good Friday service. A short address will complete the service.

TAFT TAX MEASURE WITH TWO OTHERS PASSED BY SENATE

All Measures Have Passed
House; Minor Changes Are Adopted.

Columbus, March 29.—By virtue of the action taken in the senate late Wednesday, the general assembly has offered citizens of Ohio a chance at a new deal in taxation, if not actually a system newly constructed from the foundations upward.

The senate did three things:
1.—Repealed the time honored Smith 1 per cent tax-rate limit law by passing the Taft bill.

2.—Did away with the present system of elective tax assessors, by passing the Albaugh bill, which goes back to the principles of the ill fated Warnes law.

3.—Served notice that in the future, intangible property such as securities, bank and building and loan deposits will have to pay a tax or suffer a heavy penalty.

The first measure is intended to give cities enough revenue to enable them to exist.

All Have Passed House
The last two bills are intended to bring additional property to the fast dwindling tax duplicates, thereby yielding more revenue and possibly permitting lower tax rates in consequence.

All three of these bills have passed the house.

As the amendments made in the senate were of comparatively little consequence, there seemed to be little doubt that the house would concur. The bills then lay ready for the signature of Gov. A. V. Donahey.

There is grave doubt, however, whether the governor will sign the Taft bill. When it came up in the house, Minority Floor Leader H. S. Atkinson attacked it as a bill intended to increase taxes at a time when there was an expressed mandate from the electorate to lower them. His attack on the bill was taken as indicating the attitude of the governor.

No changes have been made in the bill to make it any less a tax raising measure than it was when before the house.

USES HIM ROUGH HUSBAND CLAIMS

Lisbon, March 29.—The contested divorce action of Rollin Gibson against his wife, Edna Gibson, Wellsville, was begun this morning in court room No. 2, before Judge Moore.

The husband testified that his wife took all his money and refused to allow him enough for necessities and should possess before knowing as a critic of an internationally known and famous institution like the Passions play.

A critic should also possess at least a spark of sympathy in the work criticized. Likewise a love of truth, and have a freedom from prejudice. But neither knowledge or sympathy or love of truth, are evident in Miss Snyder's letter, and she was prejudiced against the play (Atlantic Monthly) before she went there.

We ask ourselves, what did Miss Snyder go to Oberammergau to see? Did she go there to see a real execution? If she wanted to see a real execution then she should have gone to a state penitentiary, or stood on the street corners of some large city.

Or did Miss Snyder go to see a representation of the greatest tragedy in the world? If she did, then she lacks a spark of faith or sympathy in the Crucifixion, in blasphemously calling it a "mockery."

Of course they had to hang the Christus on the Cross "with a belt or rope." What else would one expect? When Robert Mantell, John Barry, more, Mansfield, Southern, Mary Garding, Gaili Carcel or the Shakespearean death scenes on stage, do we call them "mockeries?"

And now in these many years for the first time the Passions play is accused of being "commercialized."

McDonald Advises Citizens And Police To Co-operate For Law Enforcement

THOMPSON QUIZED ABOUT ENFORCING LIQUOR LAWS HERE

McDonald, Prohibition Chief,
Has Star Session With
Chief Of Police.

ASKS WHY OUTSIDE
HELP WAS NEEDED

Chief Says Results Would Have Come With Full
Co-operation.

Alleged laxity in enforcement of the prohibition laws prior to Nov. 22, 1922, was the main subject of discussion at a conference between Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald of Columbus and Police Chief T. W. Thompson, Wednesday afternoon at city hall.

Commissioner McDonald, the representative of Gov. A. V. Donahey in the probe of conditions in Salem, arrived here shortly after 2 p. m. Wednesday and immediately went into conference with Chief Thompson at city hall.

The prohibition head questioned the police chief with regard to enforcement of the liquor laws here prior to the raids instituted by the citizens' committee last November. He took no definite stand in the matter but asked the police chief why outside help had to be secured to conduct the raids here.

Asks About Co-Operation
McDonald questioned the police head as to whether profifers of co-operation had been made to his department by members of the citizens' committee prior to the raids here. He also questioned Chief Thompson with regard to the character of several persons who had signed affidavits regarding activities of the police here, and of his personal activities along law enforcement lines.

The commissioner declared he did not know just what action Gov. Donahey contemplated with regard to the dismissal of Chief Thompson as he ordered Mayor John W. Post to do.

Chief Thompson informed the prohibition commissioner that the police department could have obtained the same results as did the citizens' committee if his department had had the outside help in conducting the raids here. The police head informed McDonald that it was useless for his officers to continue their raids because of the fact that his officers were known to all suspected bootleggers and that it was impossible for them to get results.

The prohibition commissioner left at 6 p. m. for Alliance.

90 HOUSES RAZED AT SUMMER RESORT

Mile Of Nantasket Beach Is Laid Waste By Disastrous Blaze.

Poston, March 29.—About a mile of Nantasket beach, a great summer resort for New England people, was laid waste last night and early today by the most disastrous fire in the history of the beach.

About 90 houses were destroyed, seven persons injured and about 150 made homeless by the conflagration. Damage is estimated at $1,000,000.

The flames were visible for miles and drew many spectators despite the cold. The flames were fanned by a northwest wind, accompanied by intense cold. Low water pressure also handicapped the firemen. Aid was summoned from Boston and other places.

The flames started in the palm gardens at the park and quickly spread. Infantry from Fort Revere, state constabulary and a detail of Metropolitan police were rushed to the scene and assisted in handling the large crowd and caring for the homeless. The Salvation Army furnished coffee for the firemen and the homeless.

Criticism Of Passion Play Is Answered By Rev. Manning

Editor of Salem News:

In reading the article in your paper under date of Friday, March 23, written by Miss Snyder, describing the Passions play at Oberammergau, it is evident that Miss Snyder lacks a great deal of knowledge that she should possess before posing as a critic of an internationally known and famous institution like the Passions play.

A critic should also possess at least a spark of sympathy in the work criticized. Likewise a love of truth, and have a freedom from prejudice. But neither knowledge or sympathy or love of truth, are evident in Miss Snyder's letter, and she was prejudiced against the play (Atlantic Monthly) before she went there.

We ask ourselves, what did Miss Snyder go to Oberammergau to see? Did she go there to see a real execution? If she wanted to see a real execution then she should have gone to a state penitentiary, or stood on the street corners of some large city.

Or did Miss Snyder go to see a representation of the greatest tragedy in the world? If she did, then she lacks a spark of faith or sympathy in the Crucifixion, in blasphemously calling it a "mockery."

Of course they had to hang the Christus on the Cross "with a belt or rope." What else would one expect? When Robert Mantell, John Barry, more, Mansfield, Southern, Mary Garding, Gaili Carcel or the Shakespearean death scenes on stage, do we call them "mockeries?"

And now in these many years for the first time the Passions play is accused of being "commercialized."

Uses His Whisky As Foot Liniment He Assures Court

Lisbon, March 29.—William Mason, who was brought to the county jail from East Liverpool Wednesday in default of a fine of $100 assessed against him by Squire Macknall, has the most original excuse yet offered for the charge of possessing liquor against him.

He told Sheriff Lewis that he used the home-made whisky to put on his feet to keep them warm and heal up chilblains.

"Things are coming pretty poor," he said, "when a fellow can't have a little liquor in his home to put on his feet."

However testimony at the trial indicated that Mason had been selling a little of his foot liniment to a limited list of customers and they were getting a kick out of it that indicated the liquor had been distilled from the hoof of a mule.

ENORMOUS CROWD ATTENDS FUNERAL OF DIVINE SARAH

Service In Paris Marked By Unprecedented Scenes
Of Grief.

Paris, March 29.—Amidst almost unprecedented scenes of grief and lamentation, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, "the Divine Sarah," was buried today. It had been announced that there would be no sermon, no mass and no music, but at the last minute this program was changed. There was a low mass in the church of St. Francois De Sales, which lasted one hour.

The police lines were unable to hold back the enormous crowd which gathered about the church. Persons rushed past the gendarmes and entered the church midst great confusion. Men and women crowded close to the catafalque in an effort to see the coffin which was hidden beneath a mass of flowers.

The cortege after the church service passed in front of the Sarah Bernhardt theater, where it halted for a moment.

Among the wreaths were three from the Lambs club, the Players club and the Actors Equity of New York. Many Americans were among the mourners.

An unconventional touch was introduced in the church service when an usher rapped loudly three times, the signal in French that the curtain is about to be raised. This opened the brief church service. The pallbearers were actors from the Sarah Bernhardt theater.

The funeral cortege was more than half a mile long.

Excavate For New Fairgrounds Diamond

Excavation for the new baseball diamond at the county fair ground will start next week, a contractor with a steam shovel having been secured by President Rogers of the Lisbon Park and Amusement company. The diamond will be surfaced as the excavation proceeds and it is expected that it will be completed within two weeks.

The surface of the playing field will be on the same level as the track and a movable fence will be put in so that when race meets are not in progress the fence can be removed so the diamond may be viewed from the grandstand.

Trains Crash Near Royal Gorge, 4 Hurt

Pueblo, Col., March 29.—Four persons were injured when two passenger trains on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad collided west of here near the entrance to the Royal Gorge.

A misunderstanding of orders was the cause of the head-on crash, the impact of which split one of the engines in two.

Vessel Aground, Wreck Blowing It To Pieces

Boston, March 29.—An unidentified five-masted schooner was aground at Chatham today. She is said to carry a crew of 15 men. The coast guard cutter Acushnet has gone to her assistance. A 42 mile wind is blowing and the vessel is believed to be going to pieces.

Deserter, Repenting, Kills Self In Hotel

Detroit, March 29.—Grieved because he had deserted his wife and children to elope with a married woman, Ferdinand Vernet, 39, committed suicide in his room at a hotel by taking poison.

OHIO PROHIBITION HEAD HAS CONFERENCE HERE

Vitriolic Personalities Indulged In During Conference
Attended By Mayor Post And Citizens Committee; Get Together To End Dissension Is Advice.

Declaring that the citizens committee and that he would be glad to offer to and police officials must co-operate in any co-operation asked of him or his state if anything is accomplished by police officers. He asked that if any long law enforcement lines in Salem present knew of any places violating Ohio Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald, Columbus, personal rep- and he would give them police aid and representative of Gov. A. V. Donahey, allow them to conduct the raids themselves.

It was the general sentiment of the committee that they should co-operate with the city administration Wednesday evening in the Chamber in enforcing the laws here and some of those present offered Mayor Post of their aid in doing so.

The committee was informed that the Mayor Post had on several occasions taken an active part in raids against liquor law violators in Salem, in answer to a remark that he was responsible for the alleged laxity along this all will co-operate," declared Commissioner McDonald in addressing the meeting.

Some vitriolic personalities were indulged in during the meeting when accusations were leveled at the mayor that he had not enforced the law here. Members of the committee also charged that the mayor assessed light fines in liquor cases.

In a private conference with Commissioner McDonald following the meeting, Mayor Post was informed by the prohibition head that he was to use his own judgment with regard to fining liquor law violators, and also told the mayor in answer to a question that in one case in particular, involving a local law violator, he, the commissioner would have been more lenient than was Mayor Post.

Commissioner McDonald told the mayor in answer to a question, that he was to go ahead with the dismissal of Chief of Police Thompson. He asked Mayor Post if he did not have charges to prefer against the chief and was told that he had none. The commissioner declared he did not know how he would dismiss the police chief but that he was to go ahead under the orders of Gov. Donahey.

Confers With Committee
The committee held a brief session with the prohibition commissioner before Mayor Post was invited to attend. They discussed present conditions with Commissioner McDonald and asked his advice on several matters of local interest.

Answering a question of Commissioner McDonald, Mayor Post denied that the citizens committee had ever gone to him with a desire to co-operate with police in enforcing the prohibition laws here. The mayor's statement was that he had denied co-operation by city officials, inform him of the time and place but his request was not answered.

Mayor Post entered an emphatic denial to the accusation and it was at this point that Commissioner McDonald declared that the dissension could be eliminated if both sides would bet together in the future and work for the betterment of the city.

Post Offers To Co-Operate
Mayor Post informed the committee that his office was open at all times

Spurns Champagne And Whisky Bribe Of Liberal Portion

Sandusky, March 29.—Charges that an effort was made to influence his vote in the matter of purchase of a truck for city use were made today by City Commissioner J. Frank Donahue, who declared that a Sandusky man had offered him "whisky and champagne and more when it's gone."

He would favor the type of truck he recommended.

Donahue promises to "tell an interesting story" in investigations both city and county authorities promise immediately.

TROOP 7 SCOUTS SELECT OFFICERS

Troop 7, Salem's youngest band of Boy Scouts, celebrated its first year of existence Wednesday night at the Community House by electing the officers who were appointed by Scoutmaster Parker Lowell following the Columbiana County Scout rally last June.

Raymond Colburn will continue to serve as senior patrol leader while the following patrol leaders: Frank Davidson, Crow patrol; Starling McCullough, Quail patrol; Orville Hoffman, Eagle patrol, and Clarence Davidson, Owl patrol, Kenneth Keil, were re-elected scribe and assistant.

The next meeting of Troop 7 will be held Friday evening, April 6, at the Community House and a full attendance is desired by Frank Davidson, chairman of the newly appointed committee on membership and attendance, which includes Scribe Kenneth Keil, George McCullough and Glen Arnold. Any member who is absent from three consecutive troop meetings without presenting a logical excuse to the committee will be dropped from the rolls.

2 INMATES PERISH IN INFIRMARY FIRE

Alpena, Mich., March 29.—Two men, inmates, were burned to death and 27 other inmates, four of them women, were carried to safety by firemen today when the Alpena county infirmary was destroyed by fire.

It was the first time in the history of the colony that its secrets have been laid bare in a federal court. The attitude of Judge Sater in permitting all testimony of alleged immorality is believed significant.

Horse Steps On Foot Man's Leg Amputated

Sinton Eyster, 65, resident of East Palestine, was brought to Salem Wednesday and Thursday underwent an operation at the Salem City hospital for the amputation of his right leg, below the knee.

Eyster was injured several months ago when a horse stepped upon his foot, mashing the large toe. The toe was amputated when blood poisoning developed and when the poisoning was not then checked it was found necessary to amputate the leg.

Cactus as a Fodder. The cactus is first exposed to a torch which burns away the thorns, and is then carried to the slicing machine, of the type that is used in sugar works. The machine is provided with specially formed knives and the cactus is cut up into slices, which are then dried and if desired ground into the form of a fine powder. During the slicing operation part of the juice, which is exuded from the cactus, may be pressed out and collected separately. The juice can then be converted into a substitute for gum arabic, which is probably a salt of meta-arabic acid. The yield of dry material, the fodder, is about 11 per cent of the weight of the raw cactus.—Journal of Engineering and Industrial Chemistry.

French Workmen's Houses. French workmen's building and loan societies, "Habitations a bon Marche," have been started to help the construction of buildings for the working classes and to improve the sanitary condition of those already existing in France. The state has granted a subvention of one-third of the cost of the construction, according to the commerce bureau.

In addition, the state will lend 75 per cent of the balance required, to be repaid within forty years, at an annual interest of 2 1/2 per cent on the amount borrowed. These societies are "increasing, but not in sufficient number to meet the existing demand."

By all means let divorce be restricted and made more and more difficult to the end that the institution upon which the family is based may not be utterly outraged and destroyed. This can be done by providing for greater care in the matter of marriage itself and by the refusal of a legal separation except in such cases as suggest to the trial judge, through the medium of indisputable evidence, that the parties interested should not longer be bound by the terms of their marriage contract. But to condemn such properly divorced persons never to remarry would impose an injustice that, perhaps, the majority of civilization never would consent to endure.

Juvenile Court Work. THROUGH the efforts of Probate Judge Lodge Riddle some constructive work is being done in the juvenile branch of his court and with the aid of all communities in the county the effectiveness of his efforts will be far-reaching in the future. This co-operation is now being solicited by the judge who is appearing before various organizations throughout the county with his message of service to the youths of today. In a straight-forward manner he presents the problems that confront the juvenile court and the method he has adopted to deal with wayward boys and girls, a method that has for its aim the reconstruction of the youthful mind, getting the juvenile to appreciate the good things and the good people in life and to gain by precept and by example a desire to make of himself a useful citizen in the future.

Judge Riddle is building up a great system, the fruits of which will be more apparent in the future. He is gaining the confidence and support of the people of the county in this work, the same as he is gaining the confidence and goodwill of the youths who have started life on the wrong path but who are led into constructive paths by the influence and advice of the judge. How much greater are the blessings to society resulting from this method than can possibly result from sending every juvenile who is haled into court to a state penal or correctional institution. Judge Riddle has laid the foundation for real constructive work in Columbiana county and his efforts should be rewarded with all the co-operation and moral support that it is possible for the residents of the county to give.

AIR DICTIONARY MADE PUBLIC

Rules That Flyers Should Have at Their Finger Tips While Navigating the Upper Regions.

A standard dictionary of the air language under the title of "Nomenclature for Aeronomics" has just been published by the national advisory committee for aeronomics in Washington.

Among some of the new terms prescribed by the committee are the following:

"Airway," an aerial highway between three or more cities, marked and equipped with fields and radio stations.

"Airport," a terminal of an airway, with tracts of water and land for alighting, shops and hangars.

"Amphibian," an airplane designed to rise from and alight on either land or water.

Most motorcar operators will expect that "gassing" means filling the fuel tanks of an aircraft, but it applies to replenishing the envelopes or containing bags, lighter-than-air craft with fresh lifting gas such as hydrogen or helium, to compensate for leakage. The filling of an empty balloon with gas is known as "inflation."

Gender has practically been eliminated from terms used in flying. A "pilot" today is either a man or woman operator of an aircraft. The term applies to both heavier and lighter-than-air operations. The old terms "aviator" and "aeronaut" are discarded. "Aviatix" was never approved of officially.

RECESS PLANNED BY THE SOLONS

Important Measures Are Up for Action This Week.

INCLUDE THE TAXATION BILLS

Taft, Albaugh and Robison Proposals Before the Senate and the Brown Gasoline Tax Again Will Agitate the House—Bus and Truck Regulation Measures Also to Receive Consideration—State Affairs.

Columbus, March 29.—Legislative leaders hope to get away this week. Plans call for a two weeks' recess Saturday if action can be had on several important measures during the next four days. Night sessions will be held in an effort to carry out the program.

The senate finance committee completed its work on the biennial appropriation bill and the measure is ready for passage. Draastic cuts were made in many of the items approved by the house.

The Taft bill, amending the Smith 1 per cent law, the Albaugh bill providing for a new system of listing property for taxation and the Robison penalty bill aimed at the tax dodgers, all of which passed the house, will come up in the senate early this week for action.

There is much doubt about the passage of any of the bills. The fact that the senate committee on taxation reported out the Albaugh and Robison bills with but scant consideration was taken as an indication by several of the senators that both measures will fail. Unless the Albaugh and Robison bills are passed by the senate the uniform rulers in the house may defeat the Taft bill when it come back to that body for concurrence in amendments which the senate is expected to make.

County auditors throughout the state have been bombarding the senate with opposition to the Albaugh bill which creates a board of county assessors composed of the prosecuting attorney, county auditor and chairman of the board of county commissioners. This board would appoint tax experts to list property for taxation under the supervision of the state tax commission.

The Albaugh bill contains a provision that would make tax dodgers liable to prosecution. Any person failing to make a return or making a return of his property $100 less than its true value could be certified to the grand jury of his county and if indicted and convicted as a tax dodger would be subject to a fine of from $50 to $1000. In addition to this penalty, the Robison bill provides a penalty of 10 per cent of the value of the property in case of a false return or no return.

The Freeman bus and truck regulation bill, passed by the house, is also on the senate schedule, although it may find proponents of the more drastic Collier bill, now pending, determined to amend it in favor of heavier taxes on buses and trucks or to sidetrack it in favor of the Collier plan.

The house is to go another round on the Brown gasoline tax bill, after originally defeating the measure and then attempting to reduce the proposed tax from 2 cents to 1. The latest strategy under consideration is to modify somewhat the regular license fee and to make an attempt to put the 2-cent tax over on the strength of the license modification concession.

Tuesday witnessed resumption of the senate probe into the alleged irregularities surrounding senate bill 162, relating to liability of innkeepers.

Ben J. Sawyer, Cleveland attorney and a former member of the legislature, has been summoned to appear. According to testimony of previous witnesses it was he who suggested that the Ohio Hotel association give rooms in Columbus hotels for members of the legislature in order to secure favorable action on hotel legislation, and that he had loaned money to pay expenses of one senator from Cuyahoga county. Officers of the Hotel association testified that they had spurned offers of assistance from Sawyer in connection with their legislation because they did not sanction his methods. If Sawyer is called as a witness before the committee it is expected that Senator Rowe, also mentioned in connection with the charges, will also be called to testify. Giving testimony before a senate investigation committee exempts such persons from prosecution for bribery.

Records just completed by the division of vital statistics of the state department of health for the first two months of 1923 show that 19,252 babies were born in Ohio during that time and 15,103 deaths occurred, a majority of 4,149 for the births.

In January there were 9,450 births, for a state rate of 1.57, while in February the births increased to 9,802, for a rate of 1.62. The death rate was keeping pace, however, for there were 8,084 deaths in February, which was 1,065 more than the preceding month. The rate in January was 1.13 and in February 1.34.

The highest birth rate for February was Cleveland, with 2.01. Despite this good showing for Cleveland proper, Cleveland Heights and West Cleveland maintained their reputation for appearing high up on the list of low birth-rate places. Cleveland Heights with .49 and East Cleveland with .49 as to birth rate were the lowest in the state. Cleveland Heights also had the distinction of having the lowest rate in December of last year. The birth rate in Columbus in February dropped from 1.84 to 1.56, Columbus being second lowest among the largest cities with Dayton last with 1.27.

Logan and Greenville had the highest death rate among the cities with 3.35 and 3.13 respectively. Greenville was highest in January too. Norwood and St. Marys were the cities with the lowest death rate in February, taking the place of Struthers and Kenmore which were the honor cities in January in point of low death totals. Columbus, with 440 deaths in February, showed a slight decline, from 1.72 to 1.71, in its rate, but it had the highest rate, nevertheless, for the six largest cities of the state, Cincinnati being second with 1.62 and Akron lowest with .76.

Jackson and East Youngstown had the highest birth rates in the state with 4.21 and 3.18 respectively. There were 25 births in the little town of Jackson and only seven deaths last month.

Among the counties, Pickaway and Marion had the highest death rates, Clinton and Meigs, the lowest; Lawrence and Holmes had the highest birth rate, and Harrison and Portage the lowest.

A second suit has been filed in the Ohio supreme court by Herbert H. Vogt, ousted mayor of Massillon. In a quo warranto action, Vogt seeks to have M. P. L. Kirchhoffer, who, as president of council, became mayor when Vogt was removed by Governor Donahey, ousted from office. He charges that Donahey's removal order was illegal, null and void, and that therefore Kirchhoffer is illegally holding office. Vogt on March 17 filed a mandamus suit asking that Donahey be compelled to reinstate him and expunge from the records of the secretary of state the order of removal. Neither suit has been set for hearing as yet.

Intelligence from the national capital is to the effect that Charles Dewey Hilles, now of New York and formerly of Ohio, probably will manage the 1924 pre-convention campaign of President Harding, assisted by Will H. Hays, Attorney General Daugherty and Postmaster General New, in an advisory capacity. Secretary of War Weeks also is mentioned as an aide. Hilles is a Belmont county man and for many years has been a close personal friend of President Harding. Hilles was chairman of the Republican national committee in 1912, the year President Taft failed of re-election. Hilles, however, raised something more than $1,000,000 and kept the Republican campaign going. He was one of the eastern managers for Mr. Harding in 1920 and has been in Washington frequently during the last few months attending conferences of Republican leaders.

The understanding is that, if everything turns out as planned, Hilles will succeed John T. Adams as chairman of the Republican national committee when that committee reorganizes at the time of the Republican national convention, if Mr. Adams does not resign sooner. Should Chairman Adams resign when the committee meets in December next to select the date and fix the place for the national convention, Hilles probably will succeed him then.

It is said that administration leaders are somewhat dissatisfied with the financial management of the Republican national committee. The deficit left over from the 1920 campaign was enormous and subsequent efforts to wipe it out have been thwarted by the heavy running expenses of the national headquarters. It is believed that Hilles, who made such a splendid record of financing the 1912 campaign in the face of tremendous obstacles, is just the man to put the national committee on its feet, financially speaking.

A case contesting the right of the city of Toledo to regulate operation of buses by licensing them has been filed in the supreme court by Robert Murphy. The court is asked to review action of lower courts in the case. Two other cases involving the constitutional rights of municipalities to control buses have been argued in the court this year and a decision disposing of all such cases for the future is expected within a short time.

In one case the town of Perrysburg seeks to prevent, by ordinance, the operation of motor buses there, while in Bowling Green it is sought to license buses passing through the town. Among the bills submitted to Governor Donahey for approval or veto was one that the hotel interests of the state fostered—a bill by Senator Pence of Highland county making it a felony to defraud an innkeeper or a hospital of board and lodging. The purpose of the bill, according to its proponents, is to make this offense a felony instead of misdemeanor in order that fugitives from justice may be extradited from another state. Hotel men complain that patrons of hotels in cities on the border lines can "beat" a hotel bill, go into another state and escape prosecution.

Canine Fire Guard. You've been in garages and seen those signs which read, "No Smoking." Mechanics and customers standing under the sign light cigarettes. Out in a New Jersey garage there is one of those signs. However, the personnel of the place contains one individual who sees to it that careless smokers cause no damage.

If a stranger to the garage should drop a cigarette on the floor he would be startled to see a police dog rush at his feet. The average person to whom this happens jumps into, under or on top of the nearest car, and is astounded to see that the animal is paying no attention to him, but is furiously stamping on the cigarette stub with its paws.

When he is satisfied it is out he ambles back to his corner to lie with his nose on a tire until the next cigarette is dropped.—From a New York Letter in the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

SOCIETY

At Holwick Home

Twenty-one members of Circle 4 of the M. E. church assembled at the home of Mrs. W. L. Holwick, east of the city, Wednesday afternoon. At this time plans were made for the next meeting on the last Wednesday in April, which will be at the church. A covered dish dinner will be a feature and the young women in the families of the members who are employed will be guests at this dinner. A special effort will be made to have all of the 60 members of the circle present at this meeting.

Loyal Sons and Daughters

Wearing "freak" Easter hats members of the Loyal Sons and Daughters class of Phillips church, south of the city, gathered at the church Wednesday evening for a business session and short social period. The hats caused much merriment and Miss Nettie Good was awarded a prize for having the most trimming on hers, having 20 different kinds. Members of class No. 3 of the same school were guests of the class and some time was devoted to practice of Easter music in preparation for Sunday.

T. G. T. Club

An "auction sale" of fancywork was a feature of a meeting of the T. G. T. club Wednesday afternoon at which Mrs. Edgar Buckingham was hostess at her home, south of Salem. Mrs. H. S. Harris was the "auctioneer," Mrs. Clark Marlinee was "clerk" and one "treasurer" was Mrs. Buckingham. This feature afforded fun. The proceeds will go in the club treasury. The hostess served a lunch and gave Easter novelties as favors. In two weeks the members will meet again.

I. O. O. F. Dance

Finley's orchestra will play for the dance to be given in the I. O. O. F. ball room next Monday night, the occasion marking the formal opening of the new ball room.

The ball room is that room formerly used exclusively as a lodge room. A new floor and other interior remodeling have transformed this into one of the finest dance halls in the city.

Luncheon-Bridge

Spring flowers and Easter appointments were used with pretty effect at a 1 o'clock luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Donald Carey at her home, Goshen rd. Six tables were employed at bridge, which was introduced following the luncheon. Prizes were awarded Mrs. C. M. Carey and Mrs. Herbert Zimmerman.

Mrs. Garrett Hostess

The time was devoted to sewing carpet rags to be used in making rugs to sell to raise funds for the I. O. O. F. M. E. church were guests of Mrs. W. S. Garrett, Tenth st, Wednesday afternoon. A business session preceded the sewing.

Dinner and Sewing

Circle No. 5 of the M. E. church met Wednesday at the church with a covered dish dinner a feature at which the young women of the circle were guests. The afternoon was devoted to sewing.

Mrs. S. Wisner left Thursday morning for New Brunswick, N. J., and Atlantic City where she will visit her son Roland Wisner and Miss Doris Wisner. She will be away two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Webster, Columbus, Pa., and Mrs. Claude Lock and Mrs. R. C. Mounts and little son, Youngstown, were guests Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mounts.

Herbert Watson has accepted a position at the Oriental store, succeeding Frank McConner who is now employed at the Mullins Body Corporation offices.

Mrs. A. V. Kirkbride of Cleveland is spending a few days here as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Chester Kirkbride.

Mrs. George Birrell of Washington st., who has been ill of grip for three weeks, is reported to be slightly improved.

Clarence Bayle of Damascus has arrived home for the spring vacation from Oberlin where he is attending college.

James P. Partlow has accepted a position as salesman with Castle & Beall, local Cleveland Six dealers.

Elmer Kesselmeier, who has been ill of grip, has resumed his duties at the Oriental company store.

Mrs. M. E. Farr, who is seriously ill, was reported to be slightly improved Thursday morning.

Ed. Bracken, of Philadelphia, has returned home, having concluded a visit with relatives here.

Dallas Keller, Fred Gibbons and A. H. Fuhs were Lisbon business callers Wednesday night.

Miss Edith Barnes has received a promotion at the Woolworth store as floor lady.

A. H. Pfaff will spend Easter in Philadelphia with friends and relatives.

A. H. Chalfant has returned home from a business trip to Cleveland.

Samuel Schopfer, who resides east of the city, is ill of influenza.

Mrs. Joseph Gerlach of Beaver Falls is visiting friends in Salem.

Mrs. Irene Shaffer spent Wednesday in Youngstown.

Thimbel Club
Mrs. Phil Chancellor was hostess at an assembly of Thimbel club members Wednesday afternoon at her home, McKinley ave. Needlework and lunch were pleasures. The day of the meetings has been changed from Wednesday back to Thursday and the next meeting in two weeks will be with Mrs. Lyle B. Harris at the county infirmary, near Lisbon.

Marriage Licenses
Mary Tan Fossan and Willis P. Barr, both of East Palestine, were married Thursday morning by Rev. D. E. Scott, at his home in Lisbon. Marriage licenses were granted to Justine A. Maylone and Donald E. Dudley, Wellsville, and Hazel A. Weber and Edward J. Myler, East Liverpool.

Henry Roelen of West Pershing ave., who has been seriously ill of pneumonia is slightly better. City hospital attendants report.

DAMASCUS

Lorin Grice is ill of grip. There will be a special Easter entertainment at the M. E. church Sunday morning, the program being given during the latter part of the Sunday school period and taking up a part of the church service hour. Following the program there will be an address by the pastor, Rev. H. L. Peoples, and reception of new members. The Friends church will observe Easter with special musical numbers and a reception of new members.

B. V. Chambers has moved into the Isaac Kinsey property. Miss May Irvin has moved into part of the Esther Haldeman home. Benjamin Weingart and family have moved to the Kallenbaugh farm north of Damascus.

Mrs. Olin Armstrong and sons, Victor and Glenn, have returned to their home in Whittier, Calif.

Mrs. T. D. Primm was hostess to the Damascus Magazine club at her home Wednesday afternoon. This program was given: Roll call and response; chapter two of the original novel being compiled by members of the club, by Mrs. James Cameron; paper, "People and Places in Africa," by Mrs. H. L. Haldy; "From Capetown to Cairo," Mrs. W. K. Talbot; music, Mrs. T. D. Primm. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be the last Wednesday in April at the home of Miss Deborah Pennington.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR IN A MOMENT

TRY THIS! A GLEAMY MASS OF SOFT, LUXURIANT HAIR

At once! You can transform even plain, dull, flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine" at any drug store. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust and excessive oil is removed. Let "Danderine" put new life, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

Thrills Galore In "The Third Alarm"

The search for a thrill, a new and unique thrill with the tingle of swift and dramatic action, is ever the problem of the motion picture producer. As time passes and producers continue to outdo one another in the development of thrills on the screen, one begins to wonder when, if ever, the great storehouse of thrills will be exhausted. What, moreover, will producers do then?

The fire scene in "The Third Alarm" hits the spectator right smack in the eye. It comes at you full force with a bang! It is this manner of introducing the fire scene that makes it entirely new and novel as a factor of entertainment that reflects the high skill of Mr. Johnson and his technical staff.

Edwin L. Wright
Word has been received in Salem of the death from pneumonia of Edwin Livingston Wright, at Pittsburgh. Reports state that Mr. Wright had been ill but a few days.

The Wright family is known in this vicinity through their visits here each summer when they resided at their farm near Yankee Crossing.

Richard Kirk
Richard Kirk, died Thursday morning at his residence on Broadway following a brief illness. He is survived by one sister living in Salem. Funeral services have not been completed.

Surviving are three children: Mrs. Preston B. Lee and William Allen, Philadelphia, and Mrs. C. E. Whitney, Wichita, Kan., formerly of Salem; also one sister, Mrs. Dorritt, at whose home the funeral will be conducted.

Neil Entriaken
Neil Entriaken, aged 79, one of the best known farmers of Salem township, died late Wednesday evening after suffering for the past two weeks with the infirmities of age.

Mr. Entriaken lived practically all his life in Salem township and only about four years ago sold his large farm four miles north of Lisbon and went to Lisbon where he had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. William Albright.

The deceased is survived by his aged wife, who is in feeble health, one son, Homer Entriaken of near Frankton, Square, and his daughter, Mrs. William Albright.

He was prominent in the affairs of his township and prominent in the St. Jacob Reformed church. His many character and upright and friendly nature, won for him a circle of friends that is limited only by his acquaintance.

Funeral service will be at the family home Friday.

Mrs. Mary Culler
Mrs. Mary Culler, 83, died at the county infirmary Wednesday of complications. Mrs. Culler had been confined to the county home for several months, going there from East Palestine where she resided for 12 years. Prior to her residence at East Palestine Mrs. Culler lived at Calcutta, near East Liverpool.

Surviving are two sons, W. C. Culler of East Palestine, and Frank Culler of Washington, Pa., and one daughter, Mrs. Minnie Kurtz of Kansas City.

While the time of the funeral service has not been fixed the service will be held at Long's Run church, Calcutta.

Mrs. Sarah Frost
Lisbon, March 29.—After suffering for 14 years with a disease that prevented her from rising from her bed, Mrs. Sarah E. Frost, aged 88, died at noon Wednesday at her home in West Water st.

Mrs. Frost was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Estill, who were one of Center township's early pioneer families, she has lived in this community all her life. She was a teacher in the Lisbon schools when they were known as the Union school district. She was married to Charles E. Frost in 1856. She is survived by four daughters and one son, Miss Mattie Frost, Mrs. Cora Brown, both of Lisbon; Mrs. Margaret Cowin, of New

Uncle John's Lurid Past

By ANTHONY REIMERT

"Yes, you can go and see your Uncle John, Maud, but Harry and you are to stay together all the time you are with him," Elsie Thompson sighed and turned to her husband. "We can't cut ourselves off from my only brother," she said, "but it's terrible to have such a man in our family. If it wasn't that he's taken a fancy to the children and—"

"And may leave them his money," interposed her husband, smiling.

"Oh, it's all very well to laugh, Harold, but I think it's terrible," sighed Elsie.

"If you ask me," said Harold, "I think your brother John is a good bit of a big bluff, myself. I don't believe John is quite such a reprobate as he makes out."

Maud and Harry set off, hand in hand. Their terrible old uncle inspired them with a mixture of fear, admiration and wonder. Uncle John's reputation was decidedly a bad one.

It was not that the children were likely to come to any actual harm—Uncle John would not try to lead them into sin—it was just the horrible example of this old bachelor uncle.

Why, take Uncle John's rooms, for example, at the Chatham hotel. The pictures! All over the walls were signed photographs of actresses in low-neck dresses. All of them wore smiles that showed rows of white teeth. "And the signatures: 'To dear old John,' 'With love to John'—love, think of that! Half a dozen of them had once loved Uncle John, and the inference was unmistakable that Uncle John had loved them in his dog's days.

And then the sporting prints! There were old-fashioned prints of men hunting in red coats—that was not so bad, but it showed that Uncle John's thoughts ran on horses, which were fast. Then there were prints of famous horses and jockeys. But what was worst of all was the mysterious cabinet, always locked, in which Uncle John kept his whisky. Whisky? Not only whisky. Liquors with French names that nobody could pronounce.

It was for this reason that Uncle John's family frowned upon him. It was for this reason that they avoided him when they saw him coming down the street twirling his cane—a cane, mind you, evidence in itself of an unorthodox tendency of mind!

"Mr. Benton can't see any one to-day," the clerk of the cheap little hotel told the children. "He says he's got a bad cold."

Elsie was unforgotten glad when they got home. "Really, Harold," she said, "I've been thinking seriously that we shall have to put our foot down, money or no money. The children are growing up and must be protected from wrong influences."

"Oh, John isn't such a bad man as he makes out," answered her husband.

But the children were never to see Uncle John again, for the simple reason that the hotel clerk telephoned them next morning that Uncle John had passed out in the night, of heart failure.

Then there was a scurrying. None of Uncle John's relatives had evinced much desire of friendship with him for years, but now there was a general rush to the Hotel Chatham, to the darkened room in which all that was mortal of Uncle John lay stretched out on the bed.

There were two persons in the room—a faded little old lady and an old man, neither of whom any of Uncle John's relatives had ever seen before.

After looking at Uncle John and the old lady and gentleman, and the sporting prints, and wondering what brand of whisky Uncle John kept in his cabinet, they took their departure. But they went back next day to hear the will read. Everything was left to "my friend Mrs. Pelham." There were snorts of indignation. Harold and two or three others stayed behind to talk to the lawyer and the old gentleman and that awful, awful Mrs. Pelham.

"Who is that woman?" demanded Elsie when he got home.

"Oh, it's quite a romance," said Harold. "It appears her husband abandoned her twenty years ago, and they've been in love with each other all that time, but as she didn't believe in divorce they've just been friends. Sad, isn't it?"

"Sad? That doesn't sound like John!" said Elsie indignantly. "And not a penny for the children. The old reprobate—"

"Ah, my dear, old Jack Greaves was talking about that. That was just John's way of hiding his feelings from the world. He never knew an actress in his life, and he got those sporting prints cheap at a sale. And the cabinet was full of books. Some men don't wear their hearts on their sleeves, you know. You ought to have known your own brother better than that, Elsie."

"Hum!" said Elsie dubiously. "I guess he was a very deep or a very simple man."

"Say a very human one," suggested Harold.

False Enthusiasm.

"Why do you cheer every time your opponent's name is mentioned?"

"I regard my election as secure," replied Senator Sorghum. "I want to do any little thing I can to make the odds as favorable as possible for the friends who have bet on me."

Mitchell Was Model's Admirer

John K. Mitchell.

John Kearsley Mitchell, son-in-law of E. Statesbury, multimillionaire, of Philadelphia, has been revealed as the mysterious "Mr. Marshall," who was the "heavy sugar daddy" of Dorothy Keenan King, New York model, who was chloroformed to death in her New York city apartment.

FIND RICHES IN SAND WASTE

Silica in What Had Been Considered Worthless Heaps Means Much to Two Towns.

The activity of the old lumber days at Port Austin, Mich., and vicinity are to be revived, but silica sand, and not lumber, will furnish the motive power for the active industrial scenes. Port Austin's industrial activity is rising Phoenixlike from the ashes, and what was considered a bleak, worthless sand waste is to be converted into golden dollars and give employment to many men, according to the Detroit News.

Summed up in brief a lake shore sand bank has been purchased by a Detroit fuel and building supply company. Analytical tests show that this waste sand, which is known in industrial circles as silica sand, is admirably adapted to foundry and casting work.

Almost 200 men are now at work constructing new docks, for it is planned to ship the sand by water from Port Austin to Detroit. The lumber and timber for the 2,500-foot dock, which is now under construction, is being purchased from farmers in the vicinity of Port Austin, so that the village will also benefit from the item of construction.

The new dock is near the old wharves, which in the early lumbering days of the Thumb made Port Austin and its suburb, Port Crescent, thriving centers. The silica sand deposit, it is stated, will not be exhausted for 30 years.

What was considered a barren, sandy waste promises to put Port Austin and Port Crescent once more on the map of the "Thumb" as wide-awake industrial centers.

Invention to Prevent Speeding

In Rome the narrow streets and steep hills render motoring rather precarious at best and there is no room for the speed maniac. An automatic regulator which will limit the speed within the city proper is being seriously considered. This invention depends on a type of governor and is the result of the inventive labors of Messrs. Fragaño and Villa.—Scientific American.

If Stomach Is Sour,

Food Won't Digest

No stomach filled with sour poisons can digest food. Everything you eat turns into more poison and gas, making you nervous and weak. Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, expels all sour poisons and gas from BOTH upper and lower bowel. Removes foul, decaying food matter you never thought was in your system which caused sour and gassy stomach. Adlerika is EXCELLENT to guard against appendicitis. The J. H. Lease Drug Co.

41 Seeking License To Operate Busses

Forty-one applications for city licenses to operate taxicab and motor busses were received at the office of Mayor J. S. Wilson of East Liverpool Thursday. This number represents about half the persons who are regularly engaged in automobile passenger traffic there. In a petition received by city council Monday night asking modification of the taxicab and motor bus ordinance, it was stated that there are 113 taxicab and motor bus operators in that city.

Leap From Windows Of Blazing Building

Four persons attired only in night clothing were forced to leap from windows, yesterday morning when fire destroyed the five-roomed bungalow in Bloomfield, near East Liverpool occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Kistler. The house and all its contents were destroyed, with a loss of about $3,500.

The fire, which broke out shortly after 2 o'clock is believed to have been caused by a gas stove left burning.

Mrs. Kistler discovered the home was on fire. She was awakened by smoke which had filled the sleeping room. She had difficulty in arousing her husband, who had been partially overcome by the smoke.

Minstrels Of Lisbon Appear In Leetonia

The Knights of Pythias minstrels of Lisbon, numbering 15 blackfaced artists from Brown Lodge 190, went to Leetonia Wednesday evening and put on a minstrel show at the Knights of Pythias hall. After the show the visitors were treated to a hot luncheon. Dancing and music followed until a late hour. The jokes, music and comedy were greatly appreciated by the hosts who expressed their thanks for the entertainment.

Walker Talks Taxes To Palestine Club

Deputy County Auditor E. E. Walker was the principal speaker at a meeting held by the East Palestine Kiwanians, Tuesday evening. He spoke on county taxes. His address explained how funds are secured and how they are distributed. Members of the board of education of East Palestine and the trustees of East Palestine were especially invited guests and took part in the general discussion that followed the address.

OfficeDRINK WATER FREELY
IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

The Church Cow.

A Presbyterian church in North Carolina has just bought a cow! The church carries on a large work in the "poor section" of the town, where many children need pure, fresh milk, but are not able to secure it. The church hires out the cow to poor families with small children at very reasonable rates. The cow gives about four gallons a day, which is sufficient for seven families. These families usually have enough small boys to herd the cow on the public commons and to see that each family gets its share. The experiment is so successful that the money secured for the hire of the cow is being laid aside for the purchase of another cow. —London Post.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

YOU CAN'T ENJOY LIFE with a sore, sour, bloated stomach. Food does not nourish. Inside it is a source of misery, causing pains, belching, dizziness and headaches.

The person with a bad stomach should be satisfied with nothing less than permanent, lasting relief.

The right remedy will act upon the linings of the stomach, enrich the blood, aid in casting out the catarrhal poisons and strengthen every bodily function.

The large number of people who have successfully used Dr. Hartman's famous medicine, recommended for all catarrhal conditions, offer the strongest possible endorsement for Remarkable Clock.

An ingenious clockmaker of Mar-silles, France, has converted an ordinary alarm clock into a very complete astronomical clock, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Without altering the main functions and with slight additions, except for a new face, the clock has been made to indicate, on a small dial at the bottom: The phases and age of the moon, the hours of its passage of the meridian, its position in the zodiac, the position of the sun in the heavens, its ascension and declination, the equinoxes, solstices and seasons, and on the dial at top he has added an arc upon which a special hand denotes the hour at which the sun passes the meridian, the hours of sunrise and sunset for all the days of the year and the length of the days and nights are given at the right, and sidereal time at the left.

The British House of Parliament cover an area of eight acres and have a river frontage of 940 feet. They contain more than 800 rooms, and about 18 residences, the resident population being about 200.

As Others See Us.
Our children probably give us the truest glimpse of ourselves we ever get. The other day May arranged her entire family in a row in the big rocker.
There were assembled three rag dolls,
an unbreakable doll with a broken nose,
a drunken elephant and an armless teddy bear. She placed herself before them rigidly and wagged her finger up and down.

"Don't touch the baby's bottle. Don't you dare," she said in exaggerated mimicry of me. "Did you hear mamma?" she exclaimed sharply. She seized the elephant, spanked him smartly and placed him back with a decided thump.
"Here, now young lady," she said to him severely. Then, after a moment's silence, "Well, don't cry. Mamma kias you, but you mus' mind your mamma."
Whereupon she took up the disgraced elephant, kissed the injured spot warmly and mothered him tenderly.
I felt humiliated, but was glad to see she made it up with the disrepu-

Men's Wear

Reprieving
Steinie
By MORRIS SCHULTZ

(C. 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
STEINIE, happily unconscious of the great events in his life that were impending, was watering the flowers in the warden's garden. The warden's little granddaughter, a child of seven, watched him.

"Steinie, don't forget the fairy rosebush," she said. "That's the bush I saw the fairies in."

Steinie took up the watering can.
"The fairies must be awful thirsty this hot weather," said Dot.

"We'll give 'em a drink," said Steinie.
Steinie had been a model prisoner for twenty-seven years. Twenty-nine years before, when he was sent up for life for killing a man, he had been a wild beast, incorrigible.

He had been put in the silent cell, he had had every punishment on the prison category. Then a new warden had come, old methods had changed.
... now he was a trusty, and his life had molded itself upon the penitentiary. He had no one outside the walls.

At that moment the governor was saying: "Steinie! Hum! That fellow's certainly had his spell of punishment, and he appears to have been a model prisoner. All right, Mrs. Armstrong, we'll get him out by September."

The ladies' delegation meant well.
But when the news reached Steinie he was in despair.

"For Gawd's sake let me stay, warden," he pleaded. "I'll work for you for nothing. I can't leave you and Dot.
Why, I wouldn't know what to do with myself, things has changed so. And I ain't got no trade except gardening."

"Sorry, Steinie." The warden clapped a hand on his shoulder. "But we can't employ outside labor. The only way you can get back into the pen is to commit another offense.
Come, be a man!" he added. The society's going to try to get you work."

But Steinie was not to be encouraged. The tears were in his eyes as he shook the warden's hand in farewell.
Dot was crying, so was the warden's wife, who was very fond of old Steinie.

Steinie cast a last glance around the flower garden and walked out of the gates, a free man. He had his railroad ticket to the nearest city, and a few dollars in his pocket. He put up at a cheap lodging house, but he didn't go near the society. Prisoners—ex-prisoners seldom do.

And everything was changed. He did not recognize the town of his birth at all, and he was scared to death of the sky-scrapers and trolleys. And he needed money pretty soon. What was he to do?

Two weeks later he was haunting the little town in which was the penitentiary. Nobody knew him, of course.
He was sleeping in a disused barn, and wondering who was looking after the rose garden. He wondered if Dot missed him.

Then he remembered that it was Friday morning. On Fridays the warden came back from the post office with the government check in payment for the various expenses of the penitentiary.

He should be passing the bend of the road at eleven o'clock. Steinie had often been to get the mail himself; he knew the routine.

He pulled a thick stick from the hedge.

Twenty minutes later the warden, driving the pony trap, was suddenly confronted by a figure which leaped upon him from the roadside, one hand upon his shoulder, the other brandishing a stick.

"Hand it over!"

The warden's automatic was already pointing at the other's head. But he dropped it.

"Steinie!"

Steinie let the stick fall. "I guess you got me, warden," he muttered.

The warden looked the picture of dismay. "My God, Steinie, I'd rather anything had happened than this."

"Well, you got me, so can the spel," growled Steinie.

"Steinie, run away. I've forgotten this. Anyway, I guess it was just a joke, wasn't it?"

Steinie looked the picture of dismay.
"Say, it's attempted robbery with violence, and don't you forget it, neither," he growled. "You got to pinch me, you jest got to."

A light began to shine in the warden's eyes. "Steinie, you—you want me to—you old rascal!" he exclaimed.

"Sure, you got me with the goods, and I got no kick coming," said Steinie, climbing into the trap. "I guess you'll take me to the station, eh, warden?"

The warden turned the pony's head.
After a while Steinie said:

"Gosh, it sure will be fine to see Dot and the rose garden again. I guess we'll want to manure that new strip pretty heavy, warden."

Number "Forty" in History.

Forty may not be a "magic number," like three or seven, and it has not the extraordinary properties which mathematicians have discovered in the number nine, about which a whole volume might be written without exhausting the subject, but the manner in which it figures in both fact and fiction is certainly calculated to pique curiosity and to offer profitable results in antiquarian investigation. It is impossible to discern any mathematical reason for such use of it, wherefore the natural assumption is that it had its origin in some striking incident.—Washington

ARMY PAPER TELLS OF HEROIC ACTION

GOVERNMENT AT WASHINGTON ISSUES OFFICIAL PUBLICATION, "ARMY RECRUITING NEWS."

INDIAN WARFARE RECALLED

General Official Report Shows How a Detachment of Five Men of the Sixth Cavalry Defeated a Strong Force of Cheyennes in Oklahoma.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—The government is issuing a new official publication called "The Army Recruiting News." It is the intention of the Washington editor to print in his paper the history of some of the old army posts of the United States. About these posts, or the sites of them, for many of them have disappeared, cluster many memories of the days on the plains when the Indian was unsubdued, and when all that stood between would-be settlers and transcontinental voyagers in wagons was the little army of the United States.

The first story of an old post in the Army Recruiting News is that of Fort Sill, Oklahoma, which is a highly interesting government station. There is another Oklahoma post, or, at least the site of one, which many of the old plainsmen will remember because of the sterling service which it did as a frontier buffer in the days of Indian warfare. This post, the history of which probably soon will be published, was known as Fort Supply, located in what was then the Indian territory.

The intended publication of the stories of these plains garrisons tempts one to retell a story which was put into print by the writer many years ago. It has to do in a way with Fort Sill.

In the War department at Washington today there can be read a letter by Lieutenant General Miles in praise of the deeds of five enlisted men.

Indians on the Warpath.

The Comanches, the Cheyennes and Kiowas were on the warpath and were leaving a red trail along the border of western Kansas. General Miles was in the field against the Indians. The combined bands of reds, on learning that the troops were on their trail, fled south, pursued by two troops of the Sixth Cavalry.

On the bluffs of a small stream the allied braves made a stand, the meager forces of the Sixth Cavalry charged straight at the heart of the seemingly overwhelming forces. The Indians broke and fled to a splendid natural fortification.

It became necessary that couriers should be sent to Camp Supply far away to secure reinforcements. The whole country was swarming with Indians and the trip to Supply was one that seemed to be certain death for the couriers. The commanding officer of the forces in the field asked for volunteers and Sergeant Zacharias T. Woodall stepped out and said he was ready to go. His example was followed by every man in the outfit.

Woodall was chosen to lead the little courier company of five men including the leader. The five cavalymen went northward under the starlight. At the dawn of the first day they pitched their dog tents in a little hollow and started to make the morning cup of coffee. When full daylight came they saw circling on the horizon a swarm of Cheyennes. Sergeant Woodall knew enough of Indian warfare to realize that the enemy knew of the presence of the troopers, and that the reds were formed for the purpose of closing in to the killing.

Indians Tied to Horses.

The sergeant and his four men chose a place which offered some slight advantage for defense and they waited while the red cordon closed in. The Cheyennes charged, and while charging sent a volley into the little stronghold. Five carbines made answer and five Cheyennes' ponies carried the dead and wounded riders out of range, for in that day mounted Indians went into battle tied to their horses. Behind the little rampart Sergeant Woodall lay sorely wounded and one man was dying. Let the letter of General Miles, which is now in the possession of the War department tell the rest of the story:

"From early morning to dark, outnumbered twenty-five to one, under an almost constant fire and at such short range that they sometimes used their pistols, retaining the last charge to prevent capture and torture, this little party of five defended their lives and the persons of their dying comrades without food, their only drink the rain water they collected in a pool, mingled with their own blood.

"There is no doubt they killed more than double their number, besides those they wounded. The simple recital of the deeds of the five soldiers and the mention of the odds against which they fought, how the wounded defended the dying and the dying aided the wounded by exposure to fresh wounds after the power of action was gone—these alone present a scene of cool courage, heroism and self-sacrifice which duty, as well as inclination, prompts us to recognize, but which we cannot fitly honor."

Sergeant Woodall and the three surviving members of his little party reached Fort Supply and reinforcements were sent quickly across country to the aid of the troops in the field.

Chamber Of Commerce Lists Accomplishments Of Year

Through Secretary H. Parker Lowell of the Chamber of Commerce, the membership committee, which is preparing for a campaign, has prepared the following report of activities of the organization during the last year. "In March, 1922, a campaign directed by Walter L. Strain and J. Harold Brian increased the membership of the Chamber of Commerce to well above the 200 mark. The best attended banquet of the year followed on March 14 at the Elks home where an excellent address was delivered by Thomas V. Hendricks, vice president of the Cleveland Advertiser club. On May 2, the first open forum luncheon and business meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at which every committee chairman presented interesting reports.

"On June 6 the monthly assembly was addressed by W. Espy Albright and Harry M. Grinton of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States with which body the local organization had just been affiliated. The annual meeting was held on July 11 and after a recess during the hot weather a meeting was held Oct. 3 at which time a complete report on the water situation was presented by the special committee composed of H. A. Gager, chairman, H. C. Nelson, R. B. Thompson, C. H. Cobourn and R. W. Campbell.

"Harry E. Luthi, secretary-manager of the Canton Chamber of Commerce, and Selden C. Adams, Canton Boy Scout executive, addressed the meeting of Nov. 14. On Dec. 12 the members met at the Elks home to enjoy an illustrated lecture by I. T. Frary, publicity secretary of the Cleveland Museum of Art. Again on Jan. 9 the members heard an inspiring address by Bishop Frank DuMoulin at the Church of Our Saviour, while at the meeting held Jan. 30 the speaker was Dr. W. H. McMaster, president of Mt. Union college, Alliance.

"J. C. DeGraw, vice president of the Willite company, Detroit, addressed the meeting on Feb. 13, while on March 13 five local men spoke on subjects of community interest. The next meeting will be held at the Elks home on April 19, while the Retail Merchants Board of the Chamber of Commerce is planning to entertain employees of the local stores at a banquet on April 19 at which an address on merchandising and trade extension will be delivered by J. A. Hildebrand, merchants manager of the C. H. Yeager company, Akron.

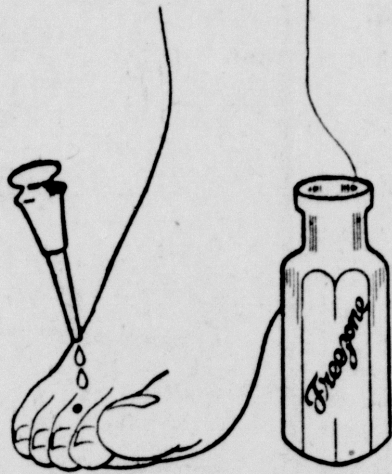

"The special committee appointed over a year ago to co-operate with the city council in planning for a better and more adequate water supply has accomplished excellent work, and the water problem appears to be approaching a satisfactory solution. The Chamber of Commerce raised funds to aid the city in making engineering surveys.

"Better train service has been sought by the transportation committee headed by A. O. Silver and at its request the state public utilities commission ordered the installation of electric block signal systems where the Salem-Boston road crosses the Pennsylvania and Y. & O. tracks.

"The legislative committee aided the city council in obtaining a more satisfactory lighting franchise and was also instrumental in revising the traffic ordinance to restore the practice of parallel parking of automobiles. This work was accomplished with the assistance of the municipal committee which also made possible an improvement in the postal delivery service, which was increased to

WILSON WILL TRY TO CONTROL PARTY SAY U. S. LEADERS

Some Democratic Leaders Declare They Will Welcome Move.

Washington, March 29.—Woodrow Wilson, leader of the Democratic party for eight years preceding the Harding landslide of 1920, will make a determined effort to resume control of the destinies of his party during the next presidential campaign, it was reported here today in high political circles.

The former president's action in urging the appointment of Houston Thompson, a close friend, to the Colorado senatorship vacated by the death of Sen. Nicholson, a Republican, was looked upon as his opening move in this direction. Friends of the war president, who is rapidly winning his way back to health, declared his recommendation of Thompson showed a close touch on current political events and predicted he would take an even more active interest in the next campaign.

A declaration that Democratic leaders would welcome the former president's active "help" was made by Sen. Simmons, of North Carolina, Democratic finance leader in the senate. Simmons declared the aid of Mr. Wilson's "superb intellectual ability" was greatly desired by his party leaders.

May Control Convention
Republican spokesmen, however, predicted Mr. Wilson would "attempt to control" selections of the next Democratic nominee for president.

According to Sen. Curtis, of Kansas, Republican "whip" in the senate, the former president's intervention for the Colorado senatorship indicates "he intends returning to the political game with a view of controlling the next Democratic convention."

The action of William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury under Wilson, who is boomed as the next Democratic nominee, in "crossing" his former chief in recommending Morrison Shafroth for the Colorado senatorship did not receive consideration here.

It was pointed out by leaders of both parties that each had spoken for a personal friend without knowing of the other's action. Republicans commented however, on the "difference of opinion" between the former president and his son-in-law on the "identity of the best man for the job."

23 SERIES STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR $975

Judged solely on what you yourself can see—its beauty of line and finish and its many refinements—the 23 Series Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car will merit quick approval.

But go deeper than that. Fine appearance is only one of the essentials you want. Judge it on its hidden, vital qualities that make for long life, extra service and certainty of operation.

For example, the crankshaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces. This practice, which is followed exclusively by Studebaker in the low price field, virtually eliminates vibration.

The striking body is all steel, even to the framework. Seats are wide and deep and are set at the exact angle for most restful riding. The ten-inch cushions are upholstered in genuine leather.

The one-piece, rain-proof windshield provides unobstructed view of the road ahead. The cowl ventilator is opened or closed in a moment. Attractive cowl lights are set in the windshield base—and there are many other features.

The reputation of the Light-Six is firmly established. One hundred thousand owners have experienced its satisfaction in performance, durability, economy, comfort and convenience.

THEATRES

State Theater To Present Views Of African Expedition

"Man vs. Beast," which will be seen at the State theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, is said to be one of the most dramatic pictures ever produced. It is the celluloid record of the adventures of Louis Shuman, European hunter, on a two-year expedition in Africa.

Here are some of the things the camera shows:

A man slaying a bull gnu and shooting him at a distance of 500 yards.

A hyena dragging a zebra skin from the drying rack. This picture was taken at a distance of less than 20 feet.

The hyena pined down with a forked stick and caught with a noose. A native going into the beast's lair to salvage the zebra skin.

Thousands upon thousands of wild birds and two pelicans measuring nine feet from tip to tip.

A dog rushing into the water to attack three giant hippopotami.

"Clarence" A Great Comedy

William DeMille's Paramount production of "Clarence," featuring Wallace Reid, Agnes Ayres and May McAvoy, which is to be shown at the State theater tonight presents something really new in the film world, when one considers the past performances of the director, as well as the achievements of the stars named. This is that the picture is distinctly a comedy, not overburdened with plot, yet at the same time delivering a message that is quite worth while.

The picture, which is based on the celebrated play by Booth Tarkington, is said to be the comedy hit of the year. The supporting company is of the finest grade.

GETTING UP NIGHTS

E. E. Mullen, No. Kenova, Ohio, says: "For 10 years I have been troubled with kidneys and bladder. I had to get up 5 or 6 times each night. I had taken many kinds of medicine, but Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) is the only kind that gave me any relief. My bladder is normal and I have only used the remedy for three weeks. If you want further facts, write me."

Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) acts on the kidneys and bladder like Epsom Salts on the bowels. It cleans them out, relieving the bladder of many abnormal deposits. These tablets cost 25¢ apiece. The price makes it possible to place in the formula several drugs which are useful for relief. The formula is on the package. It is not likely you have ever taken anything similar. Try a few tablets for backache, scalding, scanty or high-colored urine, and frequent desire at night.

Be sure to get the Keller formula Lithiated Buchu at all drug stores, or write Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, O., or locally at The Lease Drug Co., and The Bennett Drug Co.

For Rheumatism - Quick relief!

The quickness, the sureness with which Sloan's brings relief has made it the standard remedy for rheumatic pain. Apply Sloan's to that sore, stiff joint or aching muscle. The pain that has seemed so unbearable disappears with amazing rapidity. Sloan's breaks up the inflammation behind most rheumatic pain. It goes to the source of the trouble. It scatters the congestion that causes the pain.

All druggists carry Sloan's. Sloan's Liniment - 4¢ per bottle. For rheumatism, bruise, sprain, etc.

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS

"California Fig Syrup" is Child's Best Laxative

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little stomach is upset, tongue coated, or if your child is cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works for the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

Plant To Employ 1,000 Men Will Be Erected In Los Angeles.

The following is taken from the Los Angeles (Cal.) Examiner of recent date and will be of interest to potters in this city:

"A new china and dinnerware manufacturing plant, to cost $2,000,000, and employ at least 1,000 persons with an annual payroll of approximately $1,000,000, will be under way in Los Angeles within six months."

"Announcement of this was made by Frank P. Howard, western sales manager of the French China company of Sebring, Ohio.

"O. H. Sebring, president of the concern and also head of the Saxton China company, recently returned to the east after an inspection tour of Los Angeles and vicinity, and has ordered New York engineers to prepare tentative plans for the factory.

Sebring will return to Los Angeles within 30 days and select a large tract as a site for the plant. It was stated yesterday that this property will contain approximately 100 acres. Not only will it be improved with the factory alone, but plans call for the erection of at least 100 houses to be sold to employees.

"The new concern will be capitalized at $1,000,000 or more and will be a strictly closed corporation. None of the capital stock will be offered for sale.

A special feature in connection with the project is that, upon completion of the first unit of the plant, two special trains will be chartered in the east to bring 1,000 skilled employees to start the factory.

"Tentative plans being prepared call for a total of 35 kilns to be built in conjunction with other buildings. All structures will be of fireproof construction."

25 Candles to Light the House in My Day!

Burning 32 candles for 31 hours the cost would be $2.00.

The equivalent light with an electric 40-watt Edison Mazda Lamp including cost of lamp, would cost 15 cents.

"That looks like pretty good light, that device you call an electric lamp," says the shade of George Washington."

Today the citizen of George Washington's republic walks into a room and switches on the light, so certain of getting what he wants that the luxury and convenience of electric service is scarcely given a thought.

"We Never Used To Get Outdoors"

There's gladness in the air today. I heard this friendly park squirrel say. As he stretched his hands right out toward me. And took his food so eagerly.

He made me laugh and dance with joy. (You see, I'm only a little boy.) My mother smiled—almost out loud—And then the squirrel was very proud.

Mother and I had lots of fun. There in the park where squirrels run. Where kids can really shout and play. I hope we'll go again some day.

We never used to get out doors. And I just played around on floors. But now Dad's bought a Chevrolet. He's happy too—yes, we're all that way.

MUNICIPAL COURT BILL UNOPPOSED

Establishment of a municipal court in East Liverpool and abolition of the office of justice of peace in East Liverpool and Liverpool township were practically assured last night when word was received from Columbus that the house of representatives had passed a bill providing for such a court. The vote was 23 to 0.

The bill will go to the senate today and its passage by the upper house within a day or so is confidently expected. Senator Harry Carpenter has promised to take the bill in charge as soon as it reaches the senate and to rush it through before the legislative adjourns at the end of the week.

Cregan's Way for Revenge

By JOHN PALMER

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union)

Lancaster, the famous surgeon, sat in his room, dreaming of Emily Cregan.

He did not know that his relations with beautiful Mrs. Cregan were the principal item of gossip in the community. The principals are the last to hear of these things. He was dreaming of the beautiful woman whom he had kissed at her house the night before.

How nearly they had been discovered, too! If only Cregan were not such a blind, confiding ass, he ought to have suspected something, when he saw them standing so close together, looking so guilty. Still, Cregan was an ass, and then he would never have any suspicions of Emily. He was madly in love with her. So were many other men in the town.

Emily Cregan was the type of woman one sees once in years. Stately, tall, with large, dark eyes and a mouth that artists raved over, she had been famous for her beauty throughout the state before she married Cregan. And Lancaster had won her away from Cregan and all her troops of admirers.

"I love you and only you," she had whispered to Lancaster the night before. While Cregan, poor ass, was muddling in his laboratory upstairs; poor devil, how could he expect a woman like Emily to be interested in his chemical investigations?

But Cregan and Lancaster were very old friends. They had been at college together. That bothered Lancaster a little as he sat in his room. "Oh, well, if the fool can't look after his own life, suffer!" Lancaster muttered.

There came a ring at the patients' bell. Lancaster scowled. He did not want to see patients at that hour of night when he was dreaming of Emily Cregan. The maid tapped at the door.

"It's one of them Indians from the circus, sir. With an Indian woman," she said. "He says he's got to see you at once. She's taken poison."

"Well, bring them in, then," said Lancaster. The door opened. A jet-black, bearded Indian came in, with a heavily veiled woman, whom he was supporting on his arm. Her forehead, which alone was visible above her veil, was as black as her ebony hair. He put her in a chair, dropped on his knees, and clasped his arms about Lancaster's legs.

"My wives—she kiss just now the serpent!" he babbled.

He pointed to the veiled figure, which remained perfectly motionless in the chair.

"What's that you say?" "This evening I tell her I take another wives, and she is jealous. She kiss the cobra. It bite her lip just now. See, already the poison is in her. You must cut out the place."

"Let me see," said Lancaster, stepping toward the woman. But the Indian intervened.

"No, no, you shall not see my wives' face. Behold!"

He lifted the lower corner of the veil, disclosing the woman's underlip, frightfully swollen. In the center was a small incised puncture.

"You must cut or she shall die."

"You say a cobra did this?" "Yes, yes; she kiss the cobra an hour ago. It is death, sure death, unless you cut."

Lancaster did not hesitate. He knew that the poison of the cobra was certain death unless the wound were excised. And already the venom was circulating in the system.

"I'm almost afraid it's too late, but I'll try," said Lancaster. "Here! hold this under her nose."

He uncorked a bottle of chloroform and gave it to the man. There was no time for nicety. Quickly he took one of his operating instruments from the cabinet, pulled on a pair of rubber gloves, and holding the green-edged little knife in his hand, plunged knife and gloves into a solution of disinfectant.

"You must cut wide," cried the man. "You get on with your business," answered Lancaster.

The woman, who had seemed to be under the influence of the narcotic poison, slowly relaxed as the fumes of the chloroform reached her brain. Her head lolled back. Lancaster excised a liberal portion of the vermillion border. He severed the edges of the wound together.

"She won't look beautiful," he remarked, "but I guess it's better than dying. Now I'll have her taken to the hospital. Where are you going?"

But the Indian, as if overcome with terror, was running into the hall. The front door slammed behind him.

Overcome with a sudden, awful suspicion, Lancaster raised the veil. He started back with a loud cry of fury and horror.

Under the black he recognized the features of beautiful Mrs. Cregan.

Luckier Than He Knew.

A young man from the city got permission from a Maine farmer to hunt on his land, and during the day he got rather close to the home grounds. At dusk he met the farmer, who remarked, "Had pretty good luck, eh?"

"Well, no," said the young man hesitatingly. "I haven't had any luck at all."

"Oh, yes, you have," replied the farmer. "This morning you just missed my cow."—Boston Transcript.

McKECHNIE SEES PIRATES IN FRONT AS SEASON ENDS

Pittsburg's Veteran Club Puts New Life Into Pitching Staff.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 28.—"I have a team that will finish one, two, three in the National league," declared Manager Bill McKechnie today as he looked over the work of the Pirate squad which has the unique distinction of including no less than 19 pitchers.

McKechnie's statement is by no means too enthusiastic. He has the same club which made a bold dash for the wire during the last half of the 1922 season, a veteran team that did not find itself until mid-season and did not falter until its pitching suddenly went to seed. This department now is augmented by two or more very plausible recruits and it is likely that some of the veterans who have been branded with the Pirate "P" will be cast into the discard.

The brunt of the battle last year fell upon Cooper and Morrison and they bore up well. Babe Adams is back for another season and McKechnie is counting on "Whitey" Glasner to show some of the cunning that made him an outstanding hurler in 1921.

Baggy With Pirates

Glasner's work last year might lead to the impression that he was only a flash but the fact that he had salary differences and missed much of the spring training in 1922 may

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why care the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. See end 30c.

33.8 MILES PER GALLON

The Gray Motor Corporation

A New World's Record Which Probably Will Never Be Equalled

By running from San Francisco to New York with an average of 33.8 miles per gallon of gasoline, a stock Gray touring car has set a record that is a direct challenge to the motor cars of the world.

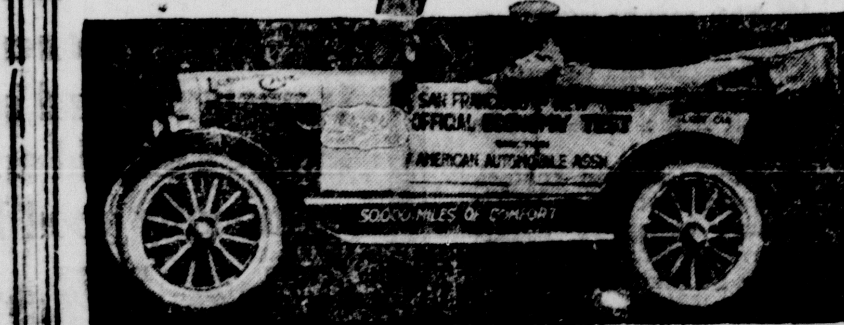

Picked at random from stock by a representative of the American Automobile Association, it traveled twenty-six days—4519 miles—under his personal supervision to establish this phenomenal record.

On the basis of that record, the Association stamps the Gray the most economical car ever built!

have accounted for his lapse. Carlson, who has been denied the privilege of returning to the spitball, and Hamilton, a hard luck left-hander last season, will have to step lively to hang on with the club.

Two candidates they will have to contend with are Jim Bagby, the old Cleveland right-hander, and Brown, a product of the Reading International league club. Brown looked like a corner at the tag end of 1922.

Another dangerous entry is George Boehler, a wild man when he was with Detroit Tigers. eGorge apparently has settled down, for he pitched consistently for Tulsa, Okla., last season. Lefty Feigart, who made a good record with a notoriously poor ball club at Flint, Mich., is a likely prospect who has been handicapped by illness and Fuller, a big right hander also gives evidence of being the man McKechnie is seeking.

Infield Selected
The infield will be made up of Traynor at third; Maranville at short; Tierney at second and Grimm at first base, unless one of the three candidates for an infield berth can outstep the Keystone guardian. This is probable, however, as the man who can displace Tierney must be a demon with the stock.

Carey and Bigbee, as good a pair of outfielders as there is in the league, will care for center and left field respectively while Reb Russell will be in right field and smashing the fences against right hand pitching. Just who will alternate with him is uncertain. Bernhart, Cuyler and Mueller being the leading candidates for the job.

35 SEEKING JOB TO WEIGH TRUCKS

Since the publication of the order of the county commissioners to Sheriff Lewis to weigh trucks and to appoint a special deputy for this purpose, the sheriff has been overwhelmed with applications for the job.

The sheriff stated today that about 35 men had made application to be appointed and furnished references as to their character and ability to perform the work.

Owing to the fact that the job will not be a permanent one and that the applicant will have to pay his own expenses and furnish an automobile, the sheriff is of the opinion that a large number of the would be deputies are simply wasting time.

"I am not ready," said the sheriff, "to make any appointment at this time and will not do so until all matters are cleared up as to the time the deputy is to be employed and other details have been adjusted. In addition no equipment for weighing trucks has been received as yet."

But Nerv-Worth Quickly Overcame This Trouble Along With Digestive Troubles.

"I was very nervous and run-down, and was troubled with a bad stomach," said W. F. Maher of 20 Locust St., Xenia, Ohio, a former railroad fireman, and he continues, "I suffered extreme pain after eating, and I bloated and had gas on my stomach. I couldn't sleep at night, and would wake at all hours suffering from pain. I have been suffering from Nerv-Worth for several years. I feel like a new man, and I certainly recommend Nerv-Worth. If you suffer from nervous or stomach disorders, or a run-down condition, the old reliable time-tested Nerv-Worth will give you help. CRITIC OF FAMOUS PLAY IS ANSWERED

Does Miss Snyder know that this year especially the moving picture interests have offered millions of dollars for the privilege of photoing the play, and that the simple villagers have steadfastly refused all the allurements of gold because of the sacredness of their work?

Does she know that John Rockefeller the richest man in the world with all his money could not bring the players to his estate so that he might view it?

Even the press dispatches of this very week speak of the pauperized condition of the villagers, manifestly contradicting the statement of Miss Snyder that the villagers made a mint of money out of the play and that there "is no suffering in Germany."

Certainly the players cannot be accused of "commercialism" because of the prices they charged at the box office. Neither can the villagers be accused of it for keeping their restaurants open to feed the hungry visitors. Plain ordinary common sense would tell that to any one.

We resent the insidiously false statement in Miss Snyder's letter that "no one observed the Sunday." We know, and Miss Snyder evidently does not know that if she, or the lady she was talking to, visited that church "the only one in the village," at 4 o'clock in the morning instead of at 7, she undoubtedly would have seen a great number of the actors of the play.

Those who take part in the play not only attend church on Sunday morning, but every morning in the week. They do not lazily lie in their beds on Sunday morning, like some travellers; they observe the Sunday, and observe it by offering the first hours of the morning to the Lord. Then they go about their daily avocations.

The church services begin at 4 a. m. and as in every large church where there is a great number of people the services are repeated every hour or oftener, so that all can attend at least one mass at the hour that is most convenient to them.

The Passion play is an act of religion for these people, and even supposing for a moment that they did not actually attend religious services in the church, every moment they spend on the stage "in the theater," is a prayer of thanksgiving, because of the fundamentally religious motive they have in presenting this sacred drama, and consequently by their very acting they "Keep Holy the Sunday."

We have heard of the "one who came to scoff but remained to pray," but never till now of the one who came to pray and remained to scoff.

REV. A. J. MANNING.

Canton, Ohio, Woman Says Tanlac Brought Benefits That Far Exceeded Her Hopes

"I heard so much about Tanlac overcoming stomach trouble and indigestion, I thought it might help my rheumatism, too, but I didn't dream it would give me such complete relief," said Mrs. Alice A. Dice, 1504 Third st., S. E., Canton, Ohio, recently.

"The rheumatism came on me suddenly and was all over me almost before I realized it was in my grip. It soon had me in dreadful pain and misery and so crippled up I was almost deprived of the use of my limbs. Mornings I simply couldn't get out of bed without assistance and I felt weak and run down in every way."

"But all that is over now, and after taking three bottles of Tanlac, there isn't any soreness in my muscles or joints, my limbs are perfectly supple and I never feel an ache or pain. Tanlac is really and truly such a grand medicine I wish every sufferer would try it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

IRISH JAILS HOLD 10,000 IRREGULARS

Free State President Says Progress Is Made In Restoring Order.

Dublin, March 29. Ten thousand Republican irregular prisoners are now held in jails and internment camps by the Free Staters, it was revealed today by President William Cosgrave in a speech before the dail eireann.

President Cosgrave warned raiding parties against what he termed "undue exuberance." He said that the Free Staters are making progress towards restoration of order.

Irregulars attacked the Free State barracks at Ballina but were driven off after a three-hour battle. Several Republicans were wounded. An unsuccessful attempt was made to burn the home of Sen. Guinness at Fox Rock.

West Hoboken, N. J.—Because he was always late to work Alfred Watson was unable to hold a job. On his mother's complaint to the authorities he is now compelled to get up at 6.30 a. m., report to police headquarters

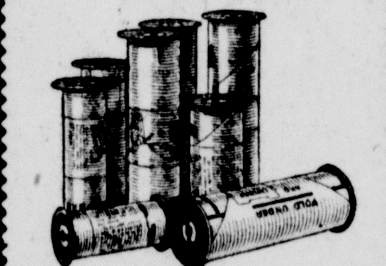

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who finally made up his mind to place some of his medicines before the public and moving to Buffalo, N. Y., put up what he called his "Favorite Prescription," and placed it with the druggists in every state.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womanhood. After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged-down by weaknesses of her sex—a woman is quickly restored to health by its use. Thousands of women testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has entirely eradicated their distressing ailments.

More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's, called An-uric (for kidneys and backache), has been successfully used by many thousands who write Dr. Pierce of the benefits received—that their backache, rheumatism, and other symptoms of uric acid deposits in joints or muscles have been completely conquered by its use.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. of any of his remedies, or write for free medical advice.
